

Current weather conditions

We would like to inform you that heavy snowfall and the associated snow drifts have caused traffic chaos in large parts of Germany over the weekend.

Due to snow and icy conditions, train and truck traffic have been suspended to a large extent, resulting in considerable restrictions in processing.

Also, due to the weather, some depots and terminals in the ports and inland have been closed.

As things stand, it is not yet possible to predict how long this situation will last.

Possible costs arising from the delays will be borne by the goods.
